[redacted] Rt. 7, Frederick, Md. 21701

1/22/68

Dear Mr. Larson,

There was no space for the uncropped picture of Oswald. I use an enlargement on TV when I can. I have it.

Since then a friend who has carried on my work on the pictures has gotten other pictures. The man on the fire escape seems to have lost his balance in reaction to something he saw, the obvious, I think.

The man in the doorway is twisted, as you say. This is part of the problem created by Liebeler's failure to identify the lens, a "long" lens, which has a foreshortening or distorting effect. He was, I think, quite a bit to the east of the western end of the doorway but seems to be right in it for this reason. I have no doubt at all that Oswald was on the first floor. When you get Photographic Whitewash, read the suppressed Arnold reports that are printed in Appendix.

What you say about CIA's is interesting and substantially what others have told me. That is no way for government to work, ever, and particularly not when a President is murdered.

Sincerely,
